"German Syrup"

G. Gloger, Druggist, Watertown, Wis. This is the opinion of a man who keeps a drug store, sells all medicines, comes in direct contact with the patients and their families, and knows better than anyone else how remedies sell, and what true merit they have. He hears of all the failures and successes, and can therefore judge: "I know of no medicine for Coughs, Sore Throat, or Hoarseness that had done such effective work in my family as Boschee's German Syrup. Last winter a lady called at my store, who was suffering from a very severe cold. She could hardly talk, and I told her about German Syrup and that a few doses would give relief; but she had no confidence in patent medicines. I told her to take a bottle, and if the results were not satisfactory I would make no charge for it. A few days after she called and paid for it, saying that she would never be without it in future as a few doses had given her relief." ©

Neumann's Alameda Real Estate.

OAKLAND, Feb. 7.—Paul Neumann, counsel to the late Queen Liliuokalani, at Hawaii, has deeded a number of acres of marsh land in Alameda county to Gustave Niebaum. The consideration named in the deed is nominal.

12-PAGE EDITION.

TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 1893.

We record with regret the retirement of Judge Lyman from the bench of the Circuit Court, where he has filled an honorable place in the public service for many years. Judge Lyman was unquestionably one of the best of the Circuit Judges. He is the victim of the new Judiciary Act, which has consolidated the two Hawaii circuits into one.

Mr. Bush has a letter in this morning's Ka Leo in which he claims that the published interviews with press reporters have made a great impression on the American people and changed the minds of many of the Senators. This is an instance of a fertile imagination certainly, but Mr. Bush enjoys no monopoly. Paul Neumann is over there too, telling stories, and one of his latest—and a fair sample of the rest—is the statement that he ran on an annexation platform at the last election. While Messrs. Bush and Neumann are busy abroad Mr. Nawahi is active at home, and in this morning's Ka Leo he tells his readers that Captain Wilts has been recalled in order to be court-martialed.

(From Daily, March 4.)

To-day, at 12 o'clock noon of Washington time, President Harrison retires from the office which he has ably filled for four years, and Grover Cleveland assumes the Presidency of the American Republic. The ceremony of installation takes place on the front portico of the capitol at Washington, in the presence of one of the largest assemblages ever gathered together in that or any other country. It is estimated that over 200,000 persons witnessed the inauguration of President Harrison in 1889. Had we a cable connecting Honolulu with the American continent, the details of the inauguration might be published here at 12 o'clock to-day, as it takes place about five hours before our noon hour.

President Cleveland has been pleased to announce beforehand the formation of his Cabinet, for, as he has stated, he sees nothing to be gained by keeping it secret after the selection has been made. The following is the completed Cabinet, each of its members having accepted the appointment:

Secretary of State: WALTER Q. GRESHAM, of Illinois.
Secretary of the Treasury: JOHN G. CARLISLE, of Kentucky.
Secretary of War: DANIEL S. LAMONT, of New York.
Secretary of the Navy: HILARY A. HERBERT, of Alabama.
Secretary of the Interior: HOKE SMITH, of Georgia.
Postmaster-General: WILSON S. BISSELL, of New York.
Attorney-General: RICHARD OLNEY, of Massachusetts.
Secretary of Agriculture: J. STERLING MORTON, of Nebraska.

SUNDAY LIQUOR SELLING.

There is a law in this country prohibiting the sale of liquor on Sunday. It is a good law, and should be enforced. It has not been very strictly carried out in the past—such laws, unhappily, seldom are; and it is well understood that there has been no great difficulty in getting a drink in this city, whatever the day of the week.

Liquor-selling of the kind referred to has generally been secret in manner and discreet as to the amount sold. Last Sunday, an exception to the rule of prudence occurred. Sailors were drunk early in the morning. Now a morning drunkard—if a landsman—is, as Robert Louis Stevenson observes, a poor creature, and it has been a well-recognized principle since the day of Pentecost, that drinking should not begin until after the third hour of the day, which would be according to modern reckoning, 9 o'clock in the morning. When men are drunk before that, it must be because liquor is very plentiful. This is the view taken by Marshal Ashley, and he has served a penal summons on the owners of the saloon from which it is claimed the liquor was furnished. Last Sunday there was, it is said, not only gin flowing from bottles, but beer from the capacious barrel. Marshal Ashley thinks it is time this should be stopped.

No effort was made under the late police regime to stop Sunday selling, and Marshal Ashley will deserve great credit if he succeeds in putting an end to it now.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS LEAGUE.

We publish this morning an account of a meeting of the so-called Civil Rights League, of the formation of which an account was lately given in this paper. It will be found interesting reading. The objects of the League are supposed to be all known, its methods are claimed to be those of ordinary political party clubs, viz., discussion and agitation. Yet at the meeting Saturday night, after about fifteen minutes, there appeared to be some mysterious reason for going into "executive session," whatever that may mean, and reporters—the ADVERTISER was the only paper represented—had to retire. Another interesting fact is the circumstance that when Mr. Ashford wished to read the minutes of all previous meetings, Mr. Chas. Creighton and Mr. Antonio Rosa strenuously objected. The result was that the only minutes read were of the meeting the occurrence of which had been already reported in the ADVERTISER. These circumstances are certainly very singular, and the zeal of the Hawaiian Civil Rights League in covering up the tracks which it has already made, as well as those which it proposes to make in the future, can hardly be accounted for if it has no aims except those supposed to be described in its conveniently ambiguous title.

It is as plain as a pikestaff that this Civil Rights League is an anti-American organization, made up of rank royalists, contrived to delay annexation and if possible to prevent it altogether. It is intended to serve as the nucleus for malcontents, and all who sympathize with the desire to replace the present order by the former anarchy. It is true that Mr. Ashford declares the league to be in favor of annexation. He says that its object is merely to secure State government. Since when, may we ask, have Testa, Creighton and the rest of these gentlemen been such good annexationists? If Mr. Ashford were himself the cordial annexationist he pretends to be he would hardly head a political movement with these persons. This dilemma, indeed, will make no impression on Mr. Ashford, who has been on all sides in politics ever since he landed in the country; but it should serve as a warning to those—if there be any such—who are disposed to take this movement in good faith. Imagine any genuine American following the lead of Testa, Rosa, Creighton, the editors of the Honolulu, etc., etc., in an annexation movement, or indeed in any movement whatever. The idea is simply absurd.

The game which these gentlemen propose to play relies on the natives to furnish its pawns. It appears, however, that the natives are not greatly taken with the charms of this league. They do not like the ambiguity of its high sounding title, and it is said, propose to form a new league of their own, under the leadership of Sam Parker and Joseph Nawahi. If this is true, it will be rather hard on the Civil Rights League which will be reduced to a baker's dozen of adherents, and will hardly be able to fill the Chinese Theatre—a most appropriate place, by the way—unless the executive committee goes out into King street and the other highways and hedges and compel them to come in.

The steamer C. R. Bishop is not due until next Friday, but many people think she will return before the sailing of the Alameda, which is expected to be on Thursday.

MAUI NEWS.

A Literary and Social Evening at Makawao.

During last evening, the 3d inst., the monthly gathering of the Makawao Literary Society was held in the parlors of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Baldwin, Haiku. Old Prob. seems suddenly to have developed a prejudice against literature and sociability, for this event has suffered through three postponements owing to unfavorable weather. Even during the earlier hours of yesterday's darkness, the faces of incoming guests were frequently "sprayed" by passing showers. However, when once the warm glow of the veranda lights was passed, cordial hospitality and charming sociability soon dissipated all remembrance of hostility without. Though the attendance was somewhat smaller than is customary, still opportunities for society chit-chat were greater, and the enjoyment of the occasion was increased rather than diminished by Old Prob.'s interference.

The programme, under the direction of Mrs. H. G. Alexander and Miss May E. Baldwin, made a harmonious beginning through a pretty piano solo by Miss Grace Dickey.

Mr. A. Hocking then read very clearly and attractively a humorous piece entitled "The Story of Little Moses."

No. 3 was a reading and shadow pictures of "The Tar Baby," from Uncle Remus. Mr. C. H. Dickey cast the shade of Brer Rabbit, W. O. Aiken "lay low" as Brer Fox, and Sam Baldwin said "nuthin'" but impersonated the "Tar Baby" with great success.

A Scotch song was pleasingly rendered by Mrs. T. L. Gulick, and a quartet composed of Messrs. Dickey, Nicoll, Lindsey and Charles Baldwin amused the audience with a negro melody. The sixth event on the list was a reading and tableaux of James Russell Lowell's "Zerkle's Courtship," in which Mrs. Beckwith read the poem, and Mrs. C. D. Loveland, Miss Irene Stiles and Mr. F. W. Hardy took the parts in the three-act tableau. When the curtain was first drawn, amid the flash and smoke of red light, verdant Zerkle was revealed peering longingly through the window at pretty Hulda paring apples.

The second scene showed Zerkle uneasy as to his feet and hands, casting sheep's eyes at his rosy sweetheart who, apparently unconscious of his presence, was busy with the pan of fruit. Number three exhibits the astonishment of the mother at the rather compromising attitude of the bashful pair.

The next feature of the entertainment was a tenor solo by C. W. Baldwin, which received an encore. The recitation by Miss Anna Paris of "Mrs. Bean's Courtship" was honored by a recall, when she rendered "The Devil's Second Wife." Miss Paris's natural and conversational style of elocution is most attractive. The finale of the programme was a piano solo by Miss Lottie Alexander, which exhibited so much artistic finish and musical feeling as to demand a repetition of her playing in the guise of another pleasing piece.

Then refreshments were served, concerning which sandwiches containing "real ham," and ice-cream deserve agreeable mention. Man is a social animal, and Makawao district is most popular, as it knows exceedingly well how to cater to this most human weakness.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Leroy Housen, the well-known jockey, is very sick with consumption at Wailuku Hospital.

Mr. Catton, of Honolulu, has been making a business visit to Maui during the week. Both he and Midshipman Parker of the Garnet have been the guests of Mr. H. P. Baldwin, Haiku.

Mr. B. D. Baldwin, is coming back to Kalaupapa. The change of plans in regard to this little plantation was brought about owing to an exchange of lands between Paia and Hamakua, of which Kalaupapa is a part. Hamakua is to have 100 acres of new cane land in exchange for some pastures in Kalaupapa. The "boys" are pleased to have Ben back at "Diamond Palace."

W. O. Aiken, at present the Kahului agent of the Waimanalo, is soon to be timekeeper at Hamakua.

Edward (Teddy) Saffery, died at Unalakapa during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. von Tempisky are soon to remove from Wailuku to Makawao. The gentleman is to manage Puunalei Ranch.

Miss Emily Biers and James Kona were married at Waikapu last Wednesday, the 1st inst., by Rev. S. Kapu. Many Wailuku friends were present and enjoyed the wedding luncheon.

STRAY SCRIBBLINGS.

A very serious accident occurred at Hamakua recently. Near the forks of the road in Hamakua a railroad track, over which cane cars run to and fro from Paia, crosses the thoroughfare. During Thursday a.m., the 2d inst., a pair of horses drawing a buggy containing Mrs. L. A. Andrews, her child and a native driver, became frightened at the rushing by of some empty cars, and turned suddenly, bringing two wheels of the carriage on to the high roadside bank; the vehicle quickly overturned throwing out the occupants. The buggy immediately righted, and the horses ran as far as the plantation store.

The child and driver escaped with but slight injuries, but Mrs. Andrews, who was immediately taken to Mr. C. D. Loveland's, was delirious during the rest of the day, and at the present moment her friends are much concerned about her. This is the fifth runaway casualty the past two or three weeks.

The auction of the household furniture and effects of Mrs. A. R. Laws, of Hamakua, passed off most successfully on Thursday. The agents for two plantation libraries paid good prices for the fine collection of books, and the presence of several young men who are perhaps contemplating matrimony in the near future, made the bidding lively on the household accessories. Auctioneer Hons, of Wailuku, conducted the sale, Mr. Andrews being compelled to withdraw, owing to the accident to his family.

PORT ITEMS.

During Wednesday, the 1st inst., the schooner Anna, Williams, master arrived in Kahului. She brought a cargo of general merchandise and made the trip in fourteen days.

On the same day, the brigantine Consuelo, Jacobsen, master, came into port. She also brought merchandise, but made faster time, 12 days from San Francisco.

The Bowden is still loading sugar, and expects to sail on Wednesday, the 8th, for San Francisco.

Another vessel, name unknown, is at present beating about outside the harbor.

Weather—Disagreeably moist all the week.

Maui, March 4, 1893.

MAILE LODGE

Gives a Ball at Hamakua, Hawaii.

The social event of the season in this part of the island was the ball given by the Maile Lodge, No. 4, Knights of Pythias, at their Castle Hall on Saturday night, February 25th. The weather for some days before had been bad, which no doubt kept many away, and on Saturday it rained until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon; but when 7:30 came with it came a goodly number of guests, and the ball opened on time with Mr. Vredenberg and his cornet seated at the piano, which is a sufficient guarantee that the music was all that could be desired.

The hall was beautifully decorated with palms, fern wreaths, maile, and emblems and pictures of the Order. The night was bracing, the floor in prime condition, and so much vim was thrown in it that when midnight came the full programme of twelve dances [the programmes were from the GAZETTE office] was finished and three extras to their credit. After the dancing was finished a substantial supper, consisting of sandwiches, turkey, many kinds of cake, lemonade and hot coffee was served.

Among the members of the Lodge who were present are noted: Albert de la Nux and wife, Dr. Greenfield, wife and daughter, M. Foley and wife, A. Long and wife, R. T. Rickard, wife and daughter, E. W. Estep and wife, C. A. Grote and wife, William Grote, wife and sister, Fred Clinton, M. V. Holmes, Armstrong Smith, Joe Burkinshaw, E. Madden, W. Backsburg, C. Gertz and Jos. Ireland. Those not members of the Lodge are: E. W. Barnard and sister, Robert Horner and sister, Charles Olsen and wife, James Olsen and wife, William Heep and wife, William Peterson and wife, George Hardey and wife, R. B. Rickard and wife, William Hardey and wife, Mr. Joanne and wife, Mrs. A. Joanne and daughter, Mrs. Joanne, Mr. Bortford and wife, Mrs. Jay M. Horner, Misses Alice Horner, Emma Mullinger, Mary Low, Clara Low, Stella Kaana, Juanita Hasinger, and Messrs. W. A. Yeates, Archie Smithies, Thomas O'Brien, L. P. Lincoln, J. J. Muir, W. H. Stone, H. S. Overend, J. Winter, G. Osborn, R. W. McDermore, J. W. Pickard, Robert Thompson, Herbert Swift, Henry Veeder, Ramsey, Siebreker and perhaps a number of others whose names could not be learned by your correspondent, as the last dance was danced with thirty-two couples and there was still a number in the hall not dancing.

ESCAPED PUNISHMENT.

The other day, when the case of Macfarlane & Co., charged with selling liquor on Sunday, came up in the District Court, the counsel for the defendants interposed several objections, one of which was that the service made upon C. M. White, an official of the corporation, was improper. Judge Foster took the matter under advisement and on Saturday morning he decided in favor of the defendants.

It looks now as though the case will not be pushed any further, owing to a defect in the law governing corporations. The matter is to be remedied by the councils of the Government, by passing a new law.

The arrest has had a good effect at any rate, as several of the saloons which made a practice of selling liquor on Sundays were closed up Sunday.

The officers of Company "D," of the National Guard are: Charles T. Wilder, Captain; J. W. Jones, 1st Lieutenant; J. L. Torbert, 2d Lieutenant.
